THE PROBLEM A job search is a second full-time job

01

Lots of boards, little fit

Students jump between LinkedIn, Indeed, Glassdoor and company career sites, and much of what they find doesn't match their background.

02

One résumé for every role

Tailoring a résumé and cover letter for each posting takes hours, so many students send the same generic version everywhere.

03

Prep that misses the posting

Generic interview questions rarely reflect the actual role, and keeping track of every application gets messy fast.

WHAT TWIN-SEEKER DOES One workspace, from first search to offer

Interview questions drawn from the actual job description, followed by a scored debrief.

Privacy & student control

- ✓ Data is encrypted and deleted when the student asks.
- ✓ Every action is recorded in an activity log that students can view and export.
- ✓ Students approve every résumé, letter and message before it's used.
- ✓ Résumé changes are shown as a truthful diff. Twin-Seeker never invents experience.

A note for international student offices. Twin-Seeker is a job-search and application tool. It does not give immigration advice and does not filter jobs by visa sponsorship. Students should keep relying on your office for anything related to their status.
